

We are an also-ran on world stage

CAN Brexiters rejoice in our increased standing in the world since the referendum?

Not a chance! They decided that we should leave the group of countries that most shares our values and is our biggest trading block.

So now we are reduced to kow-towing to the likes of the Turkish president Erdogan as we need to chase post-Brexit deals with countries whose human rights records do not bear scrutiny.

To add insult – Mark Zuckerberg of Facebook has given evidence to the EU Parliament and the US Congress but has refused to give evidence to our House of Commons.

In two short years we have become diminished in the eyes of the world. We are now merely an also-ran on the world stage.

What price 'taking back control' when the world stops listening to you?

We need a People's Vote to avert this impending disaster and regain our place in the

“

What price
'taking back
control' when the world stops
listening to you?

Jane Phillips

world order.
Jane Phillips
Birdwood Road
Cambridge